Good morning to all the parents, family, staff members and of course my fellow graduates on this milestone day. Firstly, I would like to say thank you to each and every one of you for being here this morning and showing your support. The same support that has carried us to this point in our lives and will continue to support us as we grow our wings and find our place in this world.

We have looked forward to this moment for a very long time. Eighteenth birthdays, graduation, freedom from homework, and most importantly, the future. It seemed a lot less intimidating growing up. Sometimes we wish we could go back to being a little kid with the wildest dreams, when our biggest worry was if Raquelle would steal Ken from Barbie or if someone could jump off the swings further than you at recess. When all we wanted was for Taylor Swift's music video for You Belong With Me to come true for us. Now our dreams are haunted by the uncertainty of the future. A repeated "you're on your own, kid" echoes in our heads. But I am confident that the lessons we learned throughout these past thirteen years will carry us a long way into our futures. Sorry Mr Filipenko, but I'm not talking about logs, exponents, and polynomials. I mean the lessons of responsibility, resiliency, creating and maintaining relationships, being humble, being kind, accepting each other and our differences, and creating a goal for the people we want to be. We never would have made it to this point had it not been for each and every one of you here today and most importantly without each other. We had a unique experience in our school careers. Many people came, and many people left. Only ten brave souls remained. Probably the most varied group to ever walk across this stage. It is our differences that made us grow the most. My dear friend Paige recently told me something about how if people spend too much time together they turn into the same being. In our class, I am proud to see such individual beings. Our differences are so strong because we are not afraid to be ourselves, even if it does cause some raised voices and disagreement from Tyrice. Conflicts will come and go, but stick to your roots and believe what you believe. I encourage you, fellow class of 2023, to continue on in life fearlessly.

Our differences also keep us accountable. Unlike test marks may suggest, it is okay to be wrong sometimes. Our world is built on the idea that humility is a negative thing. I believe it is a wonderful thing that allows us to grow in every aspect of our life. I can ensure you, the world will not end if you lose an argument, so Nash, Holland DOES exist. My favorite quote that truly captures the importance of being humbled in life is one by Dana Arcuri, "Humility is staying teachable, regardless of how much you already know." The lessons do not end here, they will continue on and on. They will be filled with sorrow and some with great joy. Some will be difficult and some will be painstakingly awful, but I have full confidence that despite the challenges, we have the capabilities to create a meaningful future for ourselves.

One more thing I encourage you all to implement in your futures, is positivity. Everybody always says that getting to this milestone is the easy part, so I'm sure most of you, just like me, are nervous for what is beyond Bowden Grandview School, but a positive outlook is a game changer. My parents instilled this in my everyday life. Good is a mindset. A good day, a good job, a good choice. Every day, whether it was sunshine or snowing, my Dad always said, "It's a beautiful day." So I'm going to wake you guys up now, because this last point is an important one; Choose to have a good day.

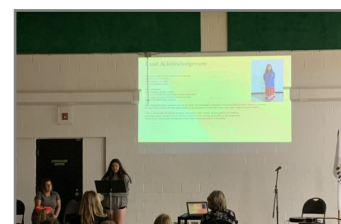

BGS Hosted a free Bison Burger BBQ on Tuesday, May 30th, for staff and students in tandem with their Indigenous Flag celebration. A huge THANK YOU for the many donations and volunteer time!! Nutrien Ag Solutions for supplying the BBQ, Innisfail COOP for the buns, juice boxes and plates and VOLUNTEERS Carla & Brad Sparks, Jennifer Wood, Jade Prefontaine, Katelyn Barkshire, Amy Severtson, Dawn Z and the Life Skills Team for prepping, cooking and assisting in the event.

Another BIG thank you to YJR Ranch for the delicious burgers!

We are happy to honour our school division's commitment to ensuring we continue the work of reconciliation in a meaningful way, by installing Treaty and Métis flags inside our school. Chinook's Edge trustees, central office leaders, and school-based administrators welcomed Elders from Treaty 6 and Treaty 7, along with a Knowledge Keeper from the Métis Nation, to perform a formal blessing of the Treaty and Métis flags in early spring. On Tuesday, May 30th, staff, students and guests gathered to celebrate these gifts to our school. The celebration began with the reading of our land acknowledgement by Lisa Arnesen-Davidson and opening comments by Mr. Thompson and Ms. Northrup. Akina, a Cree singer from Calgary, Alberta performed the national anthem in Cree, spoke about her background and heritage and sang additional songs for the celebration. Akina began her singing career at 13, when she sang 'O Canada' in Cree for a Calgary Flames game on Hockey Night in Canada. She was the first person to sing our national anthem in a language other than French and English. Akina became the youngest person to receive an Aboriginal Role Model Award for music, and she recorded a CD for Alberta Education in Cree as part of their Social Studies Curriculum. The celebration continued by the explanation of treaty's and the importance of flags. In closing, Mrs. Lentz and the elementary choir sang "Music Alive" by Sherryl Sewepagaham.

Bowden Track and Field team would like to extend a thank you to Pat Filipenko for his generous donations. Pat donated his time to share his expertise with our students in the long jump and triple jump events. He also was able to renovate the pits and get them ready for our season with new sand and leveled runways. We appreciate everything you continue to do for us.

Thank You
